

INDEPENDENT READING

An independent reading course in the Department of Historical Studies at UTM involves working on an individual research project in an area of interest to the student, which is supervised by a faculty member with expertise in the relevant area. These courses are intended for students enrolled in a Specialist, Joint Specialist, or Major program. Students must find an appropriate supervisor, receive approval for the project, and submit a completed Registration Form to the Undergraduate office in Historical Studies.

Only 1.0 credit Independent Reading course is permitted.

Name:	Student Number:
Home Phone:	Email:
Work Phone:	College/Campus:
Course Number: (please circle) Classical Civilization: CLA499H5 CLA497Y5 History: HIS499H5 HIS497Y5 History of Religions: RLG499H5 RLG497Y5 Women and Gender Studies: WGS410H5 WGS411Y5 WGS497Y5	Indicate the program in which you are current enrolled:  CLA HIS RLG WGS Major Specialist Joint
Session:	Course Supervisor:
Individual Topics Title (max. of 150 characters including space):
Detailed description of proposed course:
Readings to be completed:
Approximate date of scheduled meetings:
Course requirements, i.e. outline, paper, oral presentations, etc. (indicate number, length and % of final mark):
Student's signature:	Date:
Professor's signature:	Date:

Faculty Advisor's signature:

Date: