Join the Community of Practice

Do you manage projects, develop business plans, or drive process improvements? Eager to expand your project skills and share tips with others? Hope to collaborate on projects to shape our campus's future?

This Community of Practice (CoP) is for you—and for anyone on your team who loves to learn about strategies for organizational innovation, efficiency, and continuous improvement.

Starting in July 2023, the community will come together six times a year for meetings tailored to your project priorities. Problem-solving workshops. Professional development events. Presentations by industry leaders.

CoP is your home for it all. Register here.

More Ways to Get Involved

Working with PMO

CoP draws on best practices shared by our campus-wide Project Management Office (PMO).

PMO offers three levels of service, all open to our entire campus. Each provides a level of activity tailored to make your project a success.

To learn more about our services and start collaborating with PMO, visit our website or send us an email: utm.pmo@utoronto.ca.

Enable

Think do it yourself, where PMO shares tools that anyone can use to manage their own projects.

Support

Think do it with help, where PMO consults on a project's development throughout its duration.

Deliver

Think do it together, where PMO assembles and leads a team to complete all project work.
